

Become a GLIN Daily News sponsor

The Great Lakes Commission is proud to offer a new suite of Great Lakes Daily News services on the Great Lakes Information Network (GLIN). The Great Lakes Daily News page, updated Monday-Friday by noon, provides an "electronic clipping service" for more than 50 regional newspapers and other media outlets in the binational region. In the interest of developing, maintaining and promoting these and many other GLIN services, the Great Lakes Commission is seeking financial support from its various GLIN partners within and outside of government. As a financial sponsor, you will be ensuring the future of what has become an essential decision support system that is now accessed literally millions of times each month. You will also receive services available only to GLIN sponsors, such as posting access to the Press Room and recognition as a sponsor on the GLIN web site. Services include the following:

Regional Press Room

Allows Great Lakes agencies to submit press releases, meeting announcements, research highlights and related news for broad exposure on GLIN. The intent of the Press Room is to provide a single gateway to news from agencies and organizations that focus on issues and activities associated with the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence region. Once posted, the items are publicly archived and searchable by date, keyword and agency. <http://www.glin.net/news/pressroom>

Searchable archive of Great Lakes headlines

All stories within the GLIN Daily News archive are completely searchable by keyword, news source and publication date. The articles contained in the database focus on recent coverage of Great Lakes-St. Lawrence issues by media in the United States and Canada. <http://www.glin.net/dailynews/search.html>

The Daily News box

The GLIN Daily News box offers a "window" to great lakes headlines that can be placed free of charge on your web site. Once added to your organization's web page, the content of the box is updated automatically through the use of an active Java script. By placing the box on your web site, you'll not only be offering a handy service for your regular visitors, but also increasing the exposure of the related GLIN Daily News services.
